The chateau's history

An estate in the heart of Avignon

Built on the Île de la Barthelasse in Avignon, the Château de Bouchony is one of Provence's 18th-century estates. The buildings and gardens were shaped between 1770 and 1780.

A heritage passed down through prominent families

The estate was successively owned by the Tron, Brunet de La Renoudière and Anselme de Puisaye families. In the late 18th century, it was rented for a summer stay by the Countess of Carlisle.

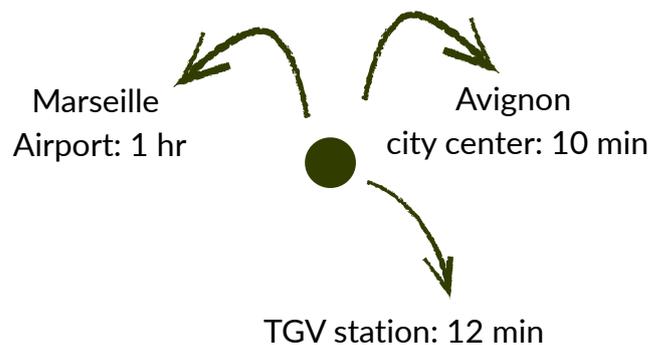

A testament to Provençal heritage

Its architecture, gardens and hydraulic system have been listed as French Historic Monuments since 1997.

Location

Its privileged location – just minutes from Avignon TGV station, the historic city centre and Avignon airport – offers direct access to the city while preserving a peaceful and unspoiled atmosphere.

The estate lies within a region of remarkable cultural and historical richness.
